Executive Committee

Chair: 11 May 2021
Amy Conwell

Secretary-Treasurer: CUPE 3902 stands in solidarity with the 1,150 striking Port of Montreal Dockworkers (CUPE 375) who were legislated back to work by the federal government last week. This is an egregious attack on the rights of all workers. We condemn the federal government's actions in no uncertain terms and extend our support to our fellow trade unionists in CUPE 375.
Mahdi Zamani

Vice-Chair, Unit 1:
Oscar Bisot

Vice-Chair, Unit 3: CUPE 375 has been fighting for a fair deal with their employer since 2018. The dockworkers went on strike after their employer announced they would be extending shifts by up to almost two hours and suspending job security provisions in the collective agreement.
Jamie Ashby

Vice-Chair, Unit 5: The Liberal government announced its intention to introduce back-to-work legislation before the strike had even begun. In a matter of days, the legislation was passed in the House of Commons and rubber-stamped by the Senate.
Christopher Landon

Vice-Chair, Colleges:
Dan Brielmaier

Communications and Recording Secretary: Dockworkers at the Port of Montreal work hard every day to keep our country running. They deserve better than to have their constitutionally-protected right to strike violated.
Clara Chang

Tey Irrazabal
