Fellow workers and educators of University of California, UAW!

We rise in solidarity!

UC workers have been at the center of the growing labour movement among academic workers. The UC strike is the largest university-based labor action in North American history and the biggest labor stoppage in the US or Canada since 2019. Your most recent strike authorization vote, a 98% YES vote from 36,558 members, sends a clear message that you have had enough of the University of California's unfair negotiating and their attempts to undermine worker solidarity, and that you are organized and determined to fight.

The university works because you do! Your passion for teaching and compassion for your students helped them survive. You kept the university moving.

You deserve a living wage. You deserve full childcare coverage and healthcare. You deserve protection from discrimination and harassment. UC workers have said that enough is enough! To the picket lines!

CUPE 3902 extends our hand to the University of California Workers, UAW to offer whatever assistance we can from Toronto.

Solidarity Forever!
